Unwanted Baptism

10% off Wildlife Inspections

If you have not had a Wildlife inspection at your home for a while you might consider having one done. Rodents can damage cars in a garage if the overhead door is not sealed. Squirrels can damage wires and raccoons will tear into your ductwork to heat and cool your attic (their new home). If you would like to have the home checked just give us a call and we'll be happy to send someone out to check it over.

Pest of the Quarter:

Earthquakes

The control of termites was recognized as important during the earthquakes in California. Homes with large infestations in the 1930s sustained more damage than those without termites. Many of these homes were pier and beams and the termite damaged beams would collapse with the shift from quakes causing houses to pull apart, taking away what little integrity was left of the boards.

Why would earthquakes be important in our homes? They could open up cracks in the slab allowing insects like termites to enter the home. They could loosen up bricks to allow bigger pests like rats to enter the home.

I grew up Southern Baptist. If you have ever seen a sermon by Billy Graham you have seen what a basic Southern Baptist service would be like. For a young person, at some point you walk up the aisle to commit your life to Christ and you know that your next step is to be dunked backwards into the water by the pastor, which at least to me was very scary at the age of eleven or twelve. The baptism is usually done at the Sunday evening service.

As a matter of fact, there were some neighbor kids down the street who were baptized more than once. It was like the first baptism did not take, for some reason.

I have read some articles about certain professions that have early retirements in countries. An example in the article was ballerinas. At some point, your body just cannot do what it used to do. Look at the retirement age of athletes. Even though today they are able to go longer in their professions because of technology, there is still a point at which you cannot do what you used to do that is considered fairly young by most of us.

What my employees and I do in an average week; climb ladders, crawl under houses and just a lot of bending your body, lifting heavy items and so forth reminds me of the work-out that athletes and ballerinas go through.

Over all these years, working for my family company, I have never had to use our worker compensation insurance for an injury. Yes, I have had miner problems which went away, but the week of the last Thanksgiving I injured myself to the point where I needed physical therapy.

As a mentioned, we do so many things on a job, but this time it was as simple as walking backwards while moving a ladder that caused me to get my unwanted baptism in one of our customers swimming pools. The inside of my left leg hit the coping stone. The MRI indicated I had a bruise and the physical therapy helped, but it may be another month before I know if this will be just another area of my body which will probably never be the same.

Before my injury, I had taken for granted how complicated and dangerous the work we do can sometimes be. Hopefully this baptism takes and I don't have to have another.—David

Vector Abatement and Mitigation Workshop

As you have read in this newsletter before, the technicians at A-All attend various training workshops. Last year we had a bat and wildlife workshop, a few years ago the technicians took a course at Texas A&M on termites. This year a few of us are taking a course on Mosquitoes. This may end up being a serious subject this year and this is a chance for us to have the most up to date training in vector control so that we can protect our customers and we can also see how local government organizations work to protect the public from this important health issue.

If you ever have a possible bug or part of a bug PLEASE save it! That will help us to identify the problem more quickly, target the correct pest and begin treatment sooner.

Liberty Health Care Angels

The picture to the left shows some of the young ladies who helped me get to the point where I could get back to my active life at A-All Pest. As I have mentioned, I have never experienced the requirement of going through physical therapy. I have seen my other employees go through the process. I do not like waiting rooms and I thought that this was going to be torture. These young ladies always let me come in earlier than my appointed time, if possible. They never had me waiting very long when I did arrive. After six weeks, I was cleared to go back to my regular routine. So if you see me climbing your roof or any of the other things I do, you have to give the Liberty Health Care the credit.
